DRAGON BAND TO MARCH AT CONVENTION

French Broadcasters Seek Freedom from Control

PARIS (AP) — With nearly all France back at work, French radio and television newsmen are holding out in a strike all their own. They say they want freedom from government control over the news they put on the air.

"It's not just this government," Maurice Werther, one of the strike leaders, told the Associated Press. "The trouble goes a long way back—to World War II and before. Other governments have been worse about this."

The Office of French Radio and Television—ORTF—is a government agency, under the minister of information.

The strike began after President Charles de Gaulle's speech of May 24, the first of three dealing with the crisis set off by student riots in early May.

Television men recorded comment on it, both hostile and friendly. The hostile comment came from Waldeck Rochet, the leader of the French Communists; Gaston Defferre, the Socialist mayor of Marseille; and other opposition figures.

It was when the management refused to put such comment on the air, Werther said, that some 150 newsmen led the ORTF out on strike.

France was not altogether bereft of radio and television.

Some work still goes on at the new station on the Seine.

A small group of non-strikers keep recorded music going—the same program on all radio networks, with occasional news broadcasts. There are also a couple of news programs on television and a movie at night. Stations near the borders of France—in Luxembourg, West Germany, Monaco and Andorra—are pitched to French audiences.

French newspapers are privately owned and have not been much affected by the strikes. They are often highly critical of De Gaulle and his policies.

He and his government, on their side, have weapons they can use against the newspapers. During the 10 years of De Gaulle's rule, there have been 351 prosecutions against individuals and publications for insulting the chief of state. The law had been in effect for 75 years before, but there had been relatively few prosecutions.

In recent months newspaper owners have also felt threatened by government plans to allow brandname advertising on television. Some say the consequent loss of advertising revenue might force certain smaller newspapers out of business.

Tito Promises Reforms To End Student Strike

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito promised educational, political and economic reforms Sunday in an effort to end the week-long student strike. He stated his office and Communist party leadership on the outcome.

In a nationally broadcast speech, Tito said students occupying the university were raising questions he himself had raised and promised them that, "This time . . . I will wholeheartedly endeavor for solutions, and students must help me in this."

"If I am not able to settle these issues," he said, "then I should not remain in my post."

Tito, Yugoslav prime minister and defense minister since 1945 and president since 1953, admonished students to return to their studies while the government and party work out the details.

He said Peking-oriented extremists were trying to take over student leadership but: "I can say that 90 per cent of students are honest youth of whom we did not take sufficient care."

Tito addressed part of his remarks to workers, indicating he was trying to keep the first open challenge to his Communist government from spreading to them.

He said top party leaders had formulated a program of political and economic reforms and were planning to deal with education improvements.

Meanwhile, militants maintained what they called "Karl Marx Red University" in the commandeered main administration building of the university and continued to demand dismissal of high police officials for their role in bloody student police fighting that erupted last week.

Students and professors in some departments accepted Saturday a compromise put forward by the government and party in an effort to end the tensions aroused by the fighting. But many more apparently rejected it, fanning government efforts to split the dissident ranks.

Student leaders and government and party representatives were reported still negotiating.

The formula, arrived at Friday, included amnesty for student activists, lifting the police blockade of the university, punishment of officials responsible for violent police repression and airing of student demands in news media.

The vote at the school of philosophy was said to be 567-11 in favor of rejecting the offer and insisting on removal of a ban against demonstrations and on the firing of Belgrade's police chief, the Yugoslav interior minister and the interior minister of the Serbian republic, one of six republics in the Yugoslav federation.

New Security to Get Test When Rocky Comes to Meadville

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — New security measures for presidential candidates get a test Monday when Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York comes the first major candidate to deliver a public speech since the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

President Johnson assigned Secret Service men to the major candidates after Kennedy was shot last Wednesday at a victory rally.

Rockefeller's office said the Republican aspirant has been assigned 20 Secret Service men, four or five of whom will probably go to Allegheny College, where Rockefeller is to deliver the commencement address.

A college official said the entire Meadville police force would be on duty and private detectives had been hired by the college to direct traffic.

The office of Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, who controls state police security for such occasions, said as of Sunday he knew of no special precautions by state police.

The political candidates declared a moratorium on campaigning after Kennedy's assassination. There was no word on whether Rockefeller's appearance could be termed political.

Manfrey To Be Installed As State VFW Commander

Eugene R. Manfrey of Warren, senior vice-commander, of the Pennsylvania Department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be installed as the state commander at the annual VFW convention to be held in Philadelphia July 10-13.

As part of the program, the Warren Area High School Dragon Band will lead off the convention parade on July 13. Members of the band are tentatively scheduled to get an educational tour of the city of Philadelphia.

To aid in getting the band to the convention the Dinsmoor-Schwing Post 631 of Warren is soliciting funds. Contributions may be made to Donald V. Raybuck, 806 Conewango ave., Warren. Members of the band will also be selling flag pins and brochures to help meet expenses.

U.S. Seeks Fast Extradition Of James Ray

LONDON (AP) — Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Fred M. Vinson Jr. visited James Earl Ray in a heavily guarded police station Sunday, then began moving to get the accused killer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. back to the United States as quickly as possible. As he did, a new element of mystery in the case arose.

Airport sources said that Ray, seized Saturday while trying to board a flight for Brussels, could have gone from the Lisbon plane that brought him to London directly to the transit lounge, and thus avoided immigration officers.

His capture indicated he left the transit lounge — either to meet someone or possibly to kill time — and consequently got caught.

Vinson talked with British authorities about Ray's extradition, a procedure which would take two to three weeks under normal conditions. But if Ray hired lawyers to challenge the action, the process could run considerably longer with an initial hearing and possible appeals.

In Washington, U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said Ray has made no statement and would not be questioned except in a manner "in strict conformity to applicable legal standards."

Clark said Vinson's top priorities in his mission are to see that Ray is as secure as he can be—that nothing happens to him—and that he is returned to the United States for trial as soon as possible.

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — The largest class in the 18-year history of Jamestown Community College received their degrees in ceremonies held Sunday night on the grounds of the collegiate center.

The 221 graduates exceeded by more than 45 the record number graduated in 1967. The first class to graduate from the local college in 1950 numbered only 16.

Joan T. Bonfiglio, a straight A student, delivered a brief address on behalf of the graduating class and later received several awards for scholastic excellence. Katherine M. Butcher and Anne Darling also received awards for high scholastic success.

The faculty award which is given annually to the student who made a significant contribution to the college during the year while maintaining an outstanding academic record was given to David Lucia.

Harry W. Morgan, a roving editor for the Reader's Digest, was the commencement speaker. Morgan related to the audience several of his personal experiences in getting members of the foreign press to visit the United States.

Mishap Claims 2nd Life

Salvatore Cipriani, 25, 1 W. Third ave., became the second victim of a three car collision Friday on Rt. 62, when he died in Warren General Hospital early Sunday morning.

Mrs. Mary Dziadosz, 41, of New Kensington, was dead on arrival at the hospital shortly after the accident occurred.

State police reported the accident occurred when Cipriani's car careened sideways into the path of a car operated by Mrs. Dziadosz's husband Henry. Borough police said Cipriani was involved in a minor crash on Pennsylvania ave. Friday morning. It appeared that Cipriani did not have a license and changed seats with a companion before investigating officers arrived, police said.

Cipriani's body was removed to the S. C. Bissler Funeral Home in his hometown of Kent, Ohio. His death was the third highway fatality in the county in less than seven days.

Officials at Warren General reported that Mrs. Dziadosz's husband and ten-year-old daughter continued in satisfactory condition. A son, age 8, remained in serious condition.

Deer Causes Collision; Two Injured

A deer dashing across a highway triggered a head-on collision injuring two on Rt. 86 south of Tionesta early Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Zelma Loop, 41, Box 91, Edinboro, swerved to miss the deer, state police at Tionesta said; however she hit the animal and then crossed the center line into the path of a vehicle operated by William J. Scully, 27, 349 W. Seventh st., Erie.

Both were taken to Titusville Hospital with multiple injuries. Scully was later transferred to St. Vincent's Hospital in Erie. Hospital officials said both were in satisfactory condition.

Jane Roshong Competes This Week In Miss Pennsylvania Pageant

Excitement is mounting at 305 W. Fifth ave., the home of Jane Roshong, Miss Warren County, who will depart for Hershey this week to join the long line of lovelies wooing the judges in the Miss Pennsylvania pageant.

The winner of the pageant, which will be held Saturday, will be the recipient of a number of gifts and honors perhaps the most coveted of which is the right to go to Atlantic City later this summer to compete in the Miss America contest.

Jane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Roshong. A former student at Texas Christian University, she attended classes at the Warren Campus of Edinboro State College this past year.

Accompanying Miss Warren County to the state contest will be Jean Jones of Russell.

Twenty-one girls from various sections of the state will vie for the title.

The girls are scheduled to arrive Tuesday, although actual competition does not get under way until Friday. A new Miss Pennsylvania will be crowned Saturday.

In addition to a $1,000 scholarship, the girl chosen for the coveted honor will represent the state in the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N.J., in September.

The last Miss Pennsylvania to become Miss America was the former Evelyn Ay of Ephrata, now Mrs. Carl Sempler of Berwyn, Chester County. She won the title in 1954.

The reigning Miss Pennsylvania is Doris Ann Lausch, 21, of Lancaster.

On Friday, the contestants will appear in swim suit, evening gown and talent competition. Ten will be chosen to compete in Saturday's finals.

Officials said the mistress of ceremonies for the state pageant would be Miss America of 1965, Vonda Kay Van Dyke.

Train That Killed Two Moving at Half Speed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Penn Central Co. said Sunday the train that killed two persons at Elizabeth, N.J., when they surged on the tracks while awaiting the Robert F. Kennedy funeral train Saturday "was moving at about half its regular speed, as a precautionary measure."

The railroad, in the first disclosure of its preliminary investigation of the tragedy, said the Penn Central and police at all stations along the New York-to-Washington route had in effect "maximum security procedures used when trains carry the President and other high officials."

The train that struck and killed the two persons was "The Admiral" en route to New York from Chicago. It was moving in the opposite direction of the Kennedy train.

David E. Smucker, Penn Central vice president-operations, said the engineer reported "he had been cautioned by two-way radio by a control tower operator when his train was more than a mile from the (Elizabeth) station."

The railroad statement added: "He (the engineer) was advised that the Kennedy funeral train was approaching and that the areas beside the tracks at Elizabeth were crowded."

"In response, he had reduced the speed with which he proceeded around the S-curve from the allowable rate of 55 m.p.h. to approximately 30 m.p.h. and he was repeatedly sounding the locomotive horn and the train bell. The locomotive light also was on."

"The engineer told railroad officials that he began applying more brake pressure as he came out of the curve and saw that people had surged out on the northbound tracks in order to get closer to the southbound funeral train."

"He said he immediately applied full emergency when he saw people crossing the tracks in order to get back to the platform on the northbound side of the station. The train was coming to a halt when it struck the people, who because of the press of the crowd, apparently could not get out of the way."

Penn Central said the brakes of the four cars and locomotive were thoroughly inspected on arrival at New York and "found to be in excellent working condition."

Charles L. Ostrander, 17, Box 65, Bear Lake, escaped injury after his car struck an embankment along Rt. 957 in Lottsville late Saturday night. The youth was forced off the road by an unidentified vehicle and lost control of the car, troopers said.

Youngsville Pool Crowded On Weekend

The weekend's hot weather insured a near record turnout at the Brokenstraw Valley Swimming Pool at Youngsville.

There were 1,001 swimmers cooling off in the pool Saturday and 947 on Sunday. The figures are a record for a non-holiday weekend. On Friday, the first day of summer vacation for school children, there were 858 swimmers counted.

Recreation officials in Youngsville announced that 300 have signed up for swimming lessons and the first hundred will start instruction this week.

Away from the water, the playground program at the Youngsville Elementary School starts today. Morning and afternoon sessions will be held Monday through Friday with arts and crafts periods on Wednesday.

The recreational basketball leagues also start today. Boys in grades 4-8 will play from 9 a.m. to noon at the high school. Boys in grades 9-12 will meet Monday and Wednesday nights at the high school. About 75 boys have signed up for the basketball leagues.

Sterling Tucker to Lead Solidarity March June 19

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sterling Tucker, director of the Washington Urban League, said Sunday he will take over leadership of the Poor People's Campaign's June 19 solidarity march.

He will succeed Bayard Rustin, a New York civil rights leader who quit the job last week in a disagreement with campaign leaders.

Tucker issued a statement saying he has accepted the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy's invitation to serve as national coordinator for the day that Abernathy hopes will bring hundreds of thousands to the nation's capital to demonstrate support of the Poor People's Campaign.

Tucker issued a list of guidelines for the march that specify no acts of civil disobedience or any other independent protest activities by the Poor People's Campaign that day.

"Poverty and violence will bring our nation down if we do not stand up now," Tucker said. "It is time for every American from every walk of life, of every creed and color, to stand up with them."

Rustin, named coordinator for the day some weeks ago, resigned Friday in a dispute with Abernathy over Rustin's authority to revise and clarify campaign goals.

Tucker said the Poor People's original demands, "99 in number—have never received adequate public attention by the press or the public."

"We march to give thousands of Americans who cannot participate in the daily activities of Resurrection City a chance to demonstrate their commitment to the Poor People's Campaign," his statement said.

Tucker noted that time is short to mobilize large numbers of people for the march now little more than a week away.

Because Abernathy's Southern Christian Leadership Conference already has its hands full running the Poor People's Campaign, he said, he bears full responsibility for coordinating all aspects of the June 19 march.

Ray Spent Two Weeks In Bleak Room in Canada

TORONTO (AP) — James Earl Ray spent two weeks of the month he lived in Canada in a bleak 15-by-12-foot room that had a television set, a "Home Sweet Home" design and a picture of Christ.

The woman who was his landlady in April said she thought she recognized him at the time from a newspaper sketch of the man wanted in the murder of Martin Luther King Jr. But her husband told her she was wrong and so they forgot it.

Later, said Mrs. Adam Szpakowski, she walked into Ray's room to clean and found a newspaper folded open to the sketch. She said her suspicions were not aroused because "he was such a gentleman."

"How was I to know he was a bandit?" said Mrs. Szpakowski of the man who lived at her roominghouse at 102 Ossington Ave. under the name of Paul Bridgman.

She said the man knocked on her door April 8, four days after the assassination of King in Memphis, Tenn., asked the weekly rate and handed over the first week's rent—$10.

He had one suit of clothes, a raincoat and a small bag, she said.

Mrs. Szpakowski said the man she knew as Bridgman left his second-floor room about 8:30 a.m. every day, returned about noon and left again until after supper. She said he spent most evenings in his room.

"We never saw much of him," said Mrs. Szpakowski, a Polish immigrant. "He paid his rent and rarely spoke."

The man told her he was a real estate salesman, she said.

Mrs. Szpakowski said one letter arrived for him, addressed to Bridgman and bearing the return address of 70 Lombard St., Toronto—location of the provincial registrar's office, which issues birth certificates.

On that day, Mrs. Szpakowski said, the same day she noticed the newspaper in his room, the man left the house and never returned.

Mrs. Loo said Ray gave his name as Sneyd, described himself as a hospital worker, took a back room for $9 a week, stayed in the room all day and was out all night.

She said he was an ideal roomer—quiet, never used the telephone and received only one letter.

Ray's identity was uncovered after a month-long search of more than 200,000 Canadian passport photographs. The word was passed to the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation and law enforcement agencies in Europe.

Calls for End To Racial Strife In Pitt Schools

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A civil rights leader has joined school officials in calling for an end to the racial strife which has disrupted Pittsburgh's schools in Negro neighborhoods.

The Rev. Leroy Patrick, chairman of the NAACP's education committee, urged pupils to get down to business Monday.

"In light of the board's readiness to act in good faith and to continue to pursue solutions to problems before they become critical, I urge all students to continue in the important task of learning," said the Rev. Mr. Patrick Saturday.

A sit-in demonstration at virtually all-Negro Westinghouse High School over a week ago has triggered practically continuous incidents of unruly pupils and school closings.

Supt. Dr. Sidney L. Marland said earlier Saturday officials had met with parents, and the meeting "was successfully concluded from the viewpoint of all authorities involved."

The black pupils say they want Negro history and culture courses, more Negro teachers and counselors and the dismissal of "racist teachers."

Final examinations begin this week. Summer vacation starts June 20.

Minority Leader Says Nation Is in a Mess

GROVE CITY, Pa. (AP) — The minority leader of the U.S. House of Representatives says the nation is in a mess.

He challenged young Americans to help do something about it.

"We are the government — you and I — and nobody is going to get us out of this mess except ourselves," said Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., at commencement for Grove City College Saturday.

After delivering the commencement address, Ford returned to Washington for graveside ceremonies for assassinated Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"If you don't like the way (this nation) is, do something about it," said Ford. "Maybe you don't want to make public service your career or even run for public office. But there are four million ways each of you can upgrade the standards of politics and the quality of government at every level."

Lancaster Man Asks Police To Destroy Guns

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — A Lancaster man walked into police headquarters here Saturday, handed officers two cased guns and asked police to destroy the weapons.

"I want to give you these guns so you can destroy them," Alan E. Schoening told officers. "I hope this gesture will encourage others to do the same."

"Enough people have been shot now. I'm not going to be responsible for any more deaths."

Schoening said he had owned the two weapons, a .22-caliber rifle and a 16-gauge shotgun, for some 20 years and had used them for hunting, but "I don't feel like killing anything any more."

Officers told Schoening the guns' further use would be limited for training Lancaster police.

Dearborn's Negro Family Is Leaving Detroit Suburb

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — The only Negro family in this Detroit suburb of 112,007—the Rev. Arthur Knight, his wife and their four children—is going to move out after two and a half years.

The Rev. Mr. Knight said he's going back to Detroit "to be with my people" and because his children have been harassed and never made to feel welcome.

The associate minister of the store-front Jerusalem Missionary Baptist church in Detroit said he had hoped by moving to Dearborn to give his children, ranging from 6 to 16 in age, a better education and a better place to live.

"But it hasn't worked out that way," he said.

"The harassment against my children has been constant," he added. "At school my children are called 'nigger' and the white children avoid playing with them."

"The schools haven't tried to cooperate, and the teachers and principals do not accept them, from what I gather from the children."

"I want to get the children out before they get hurt too bad. I can fight back on any level, but these children are too young to tell what it's all about."

He said few of his neighbors have visited his home, but those who have treated the family decently, "except for their attitudes."

H. Gordon Odgers, principal of Woodworth Junior High School, said Keith Knight, 14, had been a pupil in his school

Assembly to Consider 3 New Insurance Bills

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Shafer Administration planned to supplement its package of insurance reform proposals in the General Assembly this week with three new bills.

One of the measures, expected to be introduced in the House Monday, was linked to the problem of racial unrest in the state's major cities.

Gov. Shafer announced over the weekend that he would back legislation that would guarantee coverage for ghetto properties denied insurance because of potential riots.

Another bill to be offered in the House would amend the Constitution to make it possible for the state to consider alternative plans of compensation for automobile accident victims.

The third measure, to go to the Senate, would prohibit most sales of insurance in Pennsylvania by companies not licensed in the state.

The administration already has won enactment of several insurance reform laws, including one that would ban companies from refusing to issue an automobile insurance policy solely because of a person's age, occupation, residence or race. Shafer signed that piece of legislation last week.

The governor said there was a need for legislation to deal with the problem of companies refusing to insure so-called "high risk" properties.

The administration proposal calls for creation of a pool arrangement under which companies authorized to write property insurance in Pennsylvania share the risk of "high risk" properties.

The bill also includes a provision for establishment of a state authority to participate, in a limited degree, in the payment of riot losses.

However, it is the issue of aid to nonpublic schools, not insurance reform, that immediately confronts the state's lawmakers knew of no incidents involving him.

Odgers said Keith attended school in Dearborn for a year, then transferred to a Detroit school, returning to Dearborn in February for the last half of this school year.

"He had an opportunity here and I got along fine with him," Odgers said.

Arinda Knight, 9, and Robert, 6, attend Henry Ford Elementary School. Lloyd M. Shoemaker, principal there, told a reporter who telephoned: "It's in another school where they've been having trouble."

Charlotte, 16, a sophomore at Fordson High School, said she could sense a feeling of animosity among schoolmates and accused teachers of marking her lower than other students with similar ability. She said, however, there had been no incidents growing out of the animosity which she said she felt. Her principal was unavailable for comment.

Dearborn, where about half of 32,000 employees in the Rouge complex of the Ford Motor Co. are Negroes, is governed by Mayor Orville Hubbard, who says he doesn't believe in integration, but who says at the same time, "I have nothing against Negroes."

Hubbard has been mayor for 26 years and won a 13th term last year with 87 per cent of the vote in this city—an all-white community except for the Knights and those who remain of 28 non-Caucasians counted in the 1960 census who live in

Hanoi Appears Determined To Fight Even Harder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Along with the continuing enemy offensives in South Vietnam, documents recently captured by the allies are piling up evidence of Hanoi determination to accompany the Paris talks with vigorous military actions.

"Unless a major military victory is achieved, nothing can be expected from diplomatic struggles," says one enemy directive issued to enemy forces in South Vietnam while North Vietnam and the United States were jockeying over where their envoys should meet.

"Diplomatic debates should be regarded as a means to confirm the enemy defeat and our victory," the captured document says. "We must respond to and support our diplomatic struggle by fighting harder in order to achieve more striking and more decisive victories."

This and other intelligence relayed to Washington, plus the enemy assaults ranging from the demilitarized zone to Saigon, have helped convince officials here that—as President Johnson puts it—"Hanoi is telling its forces in the South that they must continue their offensive to support their negotiators in Paris."

The picture drawn from some of the captured material contrasts sharply with the U.S. analysis in that it portrays the North Vietnamese-Vietcong forces as undiminished in strength after their February Tet offensive.

But the enemy version does agree with Washington's in seeing a wide gap between the negotiators at Paris and hard fighting ahead. One document puts it this way:

"The peace negotiations advocated by the U.S. are merely designed to placate world opinion and the American people. Hence the U.S. will be trying to make some concessions on unimportant issues hoping to achieve their objectives, which is to maintain the puppet army and government, i.e. to maintain neo-colonialism."

"However our objective is the toppling of the puppet government and the disintegration of

1 Dead, 10 Hurt In Auto-Bus Collision

DORNISPE, Pa. (AP) — An auto and school bus collided in this Northumberland County community last weekend, killing the car driver and injuring 10 persons, including seven children, police report.

Killed in the accident Saturday was Clyde R. Kahler, 22, of Elizabethtown, Dauphin County, lone occupant of the auto, State Police said. The crash occurred on Pennsylvania 225.

The car collided headon with the bus, which was taking fifth grade pupils from the Lion Mountain School District to Knoegel Park, near Elysburg, police said.

Officers said there were 36 passengers on the bus, including the driver, Wayne Ditty, of Rt. 3 Herndon, and several mothers who were accompanying the youngsters on the outing.

Four of the children hospitalized at Geisinger Medical Center, Danville, were reported in good condition. Six others, including three mothers, were listed in satisfactory condition in Shamokin State Hospital.

Police said they arrested a 25-year-old man, father of two small children, for the rape of a 17-year-old high school girl.

Police said they arrested Wayne Sweek Saturday in a telephone booth while he allegedly was talking to the victim.

The attack on the girl occurred last Tuesday night, police said.

the puppet army in conjunction with a U.S. withdrawal.

"Thus, between our goal and the enemy plan there exists a strong and sharp difference, especially since the enemy still has a rather large military force and is subjective and stubborn."

"Such a situation can only be settled by extremely fierce and violent fighting."

In some instances, at least, rather specific missions are set forth within the general context of mounting pressure on peace talks.

For example, a calendar notebook recorded by a soldier believed to be from the 271st regiment of the 9th North Vietnamese-Vietcong Division lists this as the aim of a general offensive.

A May 5 entry says the mission is to send large forces against cities, expand North Vietnamese political and military forces, capture prisoners—especially wives of South Vietnamese Army officers—and disrupt communications between Saigon and the capital's Chinese section, Cholon.

Ky On Verge Of Break With Thieu

SAIGON (AP) — Rumors spread through Saigon Sunday that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky is on the verge of a final break with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Ky canceled appointments late last week with the U.S. commander, Gen. William C. Westmoreland and Prime Minister John G. Gorton of Australia, without official explanation. In fact, Ky has not taken part in any government activities for more than a week.

Sources close to Ky said he was "slightly indisposed" and had gone to his seaside villa at Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of Saigon, for the weekend. The sources denied that there was anything special about Ky's absence from Saigon since Thursday.

They pointed out that the vice president and his wife sent messages of condolence on Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's death to President Johnson and Kennedy's widow.

It was becoming increasingly clear, however, that Ky has been outmaneuvered by Thieu and the new prime minister, Tran Van Huong.

The rivalry between Thieu and Ky has long been seething under the surface of the Saigon political scene. Although both men have repeatedly denied that there were any serious differences between them, it was well known that Ky sought to block Huong's appointment last month. Ky suspected the new premier would gradually adopt a more conciliatory posture toward the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The vice president also feared that in preparing for such a change of policy, Huong would seek to eliminate Ky's closest friends, who are nearly all known for their intransigent attitude toward the war.

In the past few days, Huong has removed national police Chief Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan and Loan's brother-in-law, Saigon mayor Van Van Cui — two men close to Ky.

Vo-Tech in Warren County

Today's secondary schools are not just meant to prepare students for higher education, the increased demands for more education of workers in industrial and technical operations—if the industrial economy is to advance or survive—become more and more important. Therefore, the role the Warren County School District board of directors, which also serves as the Warren County Area Vocational-Technical School Board, is most important.

As explained in a survey submitted by Samuel Marek, director of vo-tech education here, with the assistance of a general advisory committee, "Vocational education is today, more than ever, an integral part of the total educational program. The area technical school is the type of facility needed to adequately provide educational opportunities to meet the needs, interests, and abilities of all pupils and to help meet the employment needs of business and industry within the service area."

The Warren Area Chamber of Commerce, local industry and many individuals has expressed the need for vo-tech education in Warren County not only on the high school level, but also on the adult level where skills can be upgraded.

Marek's survey taken during the past year also points out that area vocational programs provide opportunities for rural youth comparable to those offered in urban areas. Many students who drop out of high school before graduation might be encouraged to remain if adequate occupational training was available.

It is also noted that many students with the ability to do college work, do not have the desire or financial means to do so. The majority of high school graduates seek employment in business and industry without adequate preparation.

The area technical school has the student potential and increased job opportunities within the enlarged attendance area through which to provide a diversified occupational program pointing toward job preparation objectives rather than college entrance.

For these reasons we feel that any action taken by the local school board to create a vocational-technical program in Warren County should be expedited.

The board, at a May meeting, appeared somewhat concerned over cost figures and wanted more time to consider the program. This board has the opportunity of meeting on the matter again tonight. We trust the members have found that the cost of a vocational-technical program now will more than pay for itself in Warren County's progressive future.

Protecting Our Presidents

WASHINGTON—There've been a lot of changes around Washington in the protection of our Presidents and prospective Presidents. In the last year six men have been apprehended climbing over the iron palings around the White House intent on doing bodily harm to the President, and 12,000 letters have been received threatening his life.

In contrast are the days when anyone could saunter through the north White House grounds without a pass or any challenge from the Secret Service. The fountain sparkled and the flowers were beautiful, so government workers on their way to lunch would detour from Pennsylvania Avenue through the big iron gates, which were always open, walk under the White House portico, now reserved for heads of state, and pass out through the other gate.

But not today. Today a White House caller must stop at the gate, be identified and wait while a White House policeman phones to check on his appointment. It's less friendly, but in these days of violence it's necessary.

There was a time also when the President received any and all callers on New Year's Day. Anyone who wanted to shake hands, rich or poor, could stand in line and greet him. And there was a day when the Vice President had no bodyguard at all. Harry Truman, when Vice President, moved about the city completely unprotected.

But not today. Today the Secret Service watches Hubert Humphrey almost as carefully as it does the President.

For the White House grounds the change began after Pearl Harbor. When the war started, it was feared that a foreign agent might mingle with the noon-day crowds and blow up the White House. So the big iron gates were closed. They have been closed except to visitors with appointments, ever since.

Franklin Roosevelt had been shot at while riding in an open car at Miami Beach in 1933 before he was inaugurated. Mayor Anton J. Cermack of Chicago, real target of the bullet, was killed. Despite this, the White House gates had not been closed.

Nor had security been tightened appreciably after Lincoln's death. Today's Secret Service would never have let Lincoln sit relatively unguarded in a box at Ford's Theatre. In fact it's doubtful that they would let President Johnson go to the theatre at all.

James A. Garfield was not carefully protected when he was shot in a Washington railway station July 2, 1881 by a disappointed office seeker. He did not die until September. President William McKinley was shot by a man in Buffalo who concealed a revolver in a bandage on his arm as McKinley stood shaking hands with people at the Buffalo Exposition in 1901. It was the kind of mingling with the crowd that Lyndon Johnson loved to do in the past but which the Secret Service will not let him do today.

Huey Long was well protected when he was shot down as governor of Louisiana in 1935. His bodyguard was suspected of having shot him and blaming it on a New Orleans doctor, Leon Weiss, whom they shot before there could be any investigation. We did our best to get to the bottom of the mystery at the time, but never succeeded.

Teddy Roosevelt was shot while campaigning on the Bull Moose ticket in Milwaukee in 1912. A thick manuscript in his breast pocket stopped the bullet, and he was only slightly wounded. He had no bodyguard at all.

One Secret Service man was killed when a pair of Puerto Rican Nationalists besieged Blair House when President Truman was living there temporarily in 1950. They never had a real chance of invading Blair House but their colleagues did invade the House of Representatives and sprayed the floor with bullets from the gallery above. Four Congressmen were wounded.

It had been almost impossible to protect Congressmen and Senators from a would-be assassin who wanted to fire down from the gallery, and it still is today. Guards make a pretense of removing cameras or bags which might conceal weapons. However, this will deter no one really bent on assassination.

In fact, there is no practical way to protect Senators, cabinet members, members of the House, and candidates for high office from bodily harm and no effort, up until last week, was made to do so. The protection of Presidential candidates hitherto has been left to each candidate, and the temper of the American public was such that, aside from the bullet which hit ex-President Theodore Roosevelt, none were injured.

Today it may be different. There has been talk among Congressmen about requiring each person known to have a serious paranotha to register every three months with a mental hospital.

This, however, probably would not have deterred the Missouri ex-convict, James Earl Ray, who carefully plotted the death of Dr. Martin Luther King, nor Sirhan Sirhan who shot Sen. Kennedy. In Jordan, where Sirhan Sirhan was born, assassination has become a way of life.

When King Abdullah of Jordan had the courage to talk to Mrs. Golda Meir, foreign minister of Israel, about peace, he was shot and killed while kneeling in prayer in the great mosque of Jerusalem. His grandson, now King Hussein, was beside him when the assassin's bullet struck.

Hussein today is guarded just as closely as President Johnson. When he interviewed him in Amman some years ago, there were three separate lines of troops around his palace. One reason he does not talk peace with Israel today is the fear of assassination. That is the background from which Sirhan Sirhan came.

No, there is no sure way of protecting Presidents and would-be Presidents no matter how many Secret Service men we deploy. The long-range solution is a change in the American people's passion for televised crime and violence.

Guns And The Law

By MORRIS RYSKIND

Reason would suggest that the bullet which felled Senator Kennedy emerged from a gun which might have been unobtainable if a proper gun control law had been in effect. John Kennedy's slayer ordered his gun through the mail; the ex-convict who killed Martin Luther King bought his over the counter; the snipers who shot at policemen and firemen in the recent riots presumably got their weapons just as easily. Noting which, I recently suggested it was high time for a federal law, one with harsh teeth in it, to prevent the indiscriminate sale of firearms.

Conceding my lack of expertise on this controversial subject, I saw no reason why a purchaser with a legitimate use for a gun should object to strict regulation, down to getting a police okay and being fingerprinted.

"Surely the rights guaranteed by the Second Amendment were not intended to provide criminals with an arsenal," I wrote, and added I realized no law could ever stop a determined killer from obtaining a gun, but that such a statute might cut our appalling crime rate.

The first response to that piece came from a reader in Amarillo who agreed courteously but vigorously about my lack of expertise on the matter, and predicted I'd get enough protests against my stand to last me a lifetime.

How right he was! To date, of 168 letters on that column, only two back me; the rest vary all the way from calling me misguided to hinting I'm guilty of subversion.

Some point out that our own Communists have long advocated just such a law; others that Hitler enacted a similar measure. The intent in both instances being to disarm the decent citizens and leave them defenseless against the weaponry of uniformed gunmen serving the police state.

I realize how touchy the subject is when such an implication can be read into my piece. I never even remotely suggested that the honest citizen be deprived of arms with which to defend himself against danger. I asked only, especially in view of recent happenings, that there be a strict supervision over the sale of firearms, lest they fall into bad hands—as obviously was the case in the shooting of Robert Kennedy.

As a matter of fact, I have strong personal motives for wishing those with bona-fide reasons to possess arms the right to do so. For my son, who lives in Washington, has for over a year had a revolver in his house for protection against violence that has come dangerously near. And so have many of his friends. They'd be foolhardy not to, as matters stand.

Nor is it Washington alone. An AP dispatch reports that gun sales have also been soaring in the predominantly white suburbs of Baltimore and Kansas City since the riots that erupted in those cities this past month.

Indeed, there is plenty of fear all over the country, but it is not based on the potential danger of an all-powerful police force. On the contrary, the fear prevails because the cops have been almost completely stripped of their former powers to protect life and property. Police state? If anything, we are perilously close to having a non-police state. And the mob rule that follows may be fully as evil as Communism or Nazism.

Compared to this deadly reality, the cries against rigid control of guns—with all deference to their sincerity—seem to me of little weight. I know the arguments—in fact, I've been deluged with them—that it isn't guns that are killers but the folks who use them, and that the criminal can always get his gun. But follow that reasoning to a redemptive absurdity, and we need no speed regulations. For law-abiding folk will never go 80 miles an hour in traffic, but others will anyhow.

So I remain unconvinced, in spite of the almost unanimous poll against me. The law is no safeguard against all crime, to be sure, but it still exercises considerable deterrence. I'd like the police to regain their authority. I'm all for Mayor Daley's "shoot to kill if necessary" against murderers, arsonists and looters, whatever their color. I'm against Caucasian killers like Oswald and Galt; and am equally opposed to a Stokely Carmichael who urges his followers to start killing whites; and to Negro snipers who shoot at policemen and firemen. They all look alike to me.

And anything that makes it more difficult for such worthies to get their itching fingers on a gun is just dandy with me.

JAMES RESTON

The Final Irony of Death

WASHINGTON—The final and bitter irony in the murder of Robert Kennedy is that it virtually assures the nomination of Hubert Humphrey and Richard Nixon, the Old Guard he came into the Presidential election to defeat.

His brother's death was different. It liberated political forces which put over many of the social and economic programs he could not get accepted in life. The price was high, but there was at least some consolation in the betterment of the public life.

No such compensation is likely to result from this latest tragic sacrifice. Instead of the new man he wanted for a new age, we are getting the two most familiar candidates in the race. Instead of new policies for Vietnam, we are offered more of the same from Humphrey and even more bombing from Nixon. Instead of reassuring the dissatisfied elements of the nation, we are rewarding the satisfied. It might, of course, have happened anyway, even if Robert Kennedy had lived, but at least he would have been around to keep fighting for revision.

Kennedy was essential to Nelson Rockefeller's campaign. The New York Governor's best hope lay in the Republican party's fear of Kennedy. The Republicans have to choose their candidate before the Democrats decide. So long as Kennedy was in the race, there was always the fear that Nixon might not defeat him whereas Rockefeller might. But with Kennedy gone, this factor is removed.

Also, the assassination has dramatized again the issue of civil disorder and increased the popular demand for more police and more security in the cities, and this has always been one of Nixon's major programs. Here again the prospect is for conservative programs to deal with radical problems.

Even the period of mourning helps both Humphrey and Nixon. It has imposed a moratorium on public campaigning, which is the main field of activity for Rockefeller and Senator McCarthy, but has left Humphrey and Nixon free to work quietly with their natural allies, the state and county chairmen and the other pros, who will dominate the two conventions.

One of Senator Kennedy's last acts was to appeal to Senator McCarthy to join forces on behalf of the Vietnam policies they favored and against the policies of Humphrey and Nixon, but even the delegates won in the Indiana, Nebraska, and California primary elections are now likely to go to Humphrey rather than to McCarthy. The same trend is fairly obvious in the critical large states like New York and Illinois, where Kennedy was much stronger than McCarthy and shared the delegates with Humphrey. But again, without Kennedy, the drift will be to the Vice President.

All of this is true despite the fact that the Kennedy-McCarthy combined vote in the primary elections amounted to an impressive criticism if not rejection of the Vietnam policy Humphrey supports. Thus, only a spectacular upsurge of public opinion in favor of McCarthy and the policies he and Robert Kennedy supported could stop the trend.

Probably the only thing that could bring this about would be a dramatic campaign by McCarthy in July, backed by Senator Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts. There is just the chance that the assassination will provoke a revolution against all violence, including the violence of the war, and lead to a demand for new men and new policies. No doubt Mc-Carthy will be trying, after the moratorium, to inspire precisely this result, and the backing of the last remaining son of the Kennedy family would obviously help.

This possibility has not been overlooked by the Humphrey supporters, who are already suggesting that Edward Kennedy would make a good Vice Presidential running mate for Humphrey. A McCarthy-Kennedy ticket might seem a better way to support the policies Robert Kennedy came into the race to endorse, but here again the irony of politics intervenes, for it is unlikely that the Democratic party would want to put two Roman Catholics on the same ticket.

Nobody, however, can tell at this point what the public mood will be after the emotions of the past week. The American spirit is profoundly disturbed. The assassination has produced a national act of confession and a spasm of self-criticism and eloquent pleas for a new sense of purpose and direction.

This had already resulted in criticism of the material objectives of American life and vague yearnings for a more cooperative society based on something more than economic gain. In times of great emotional stress, America goes back momentarily at least to religion, and for the last few years we have been hearing echoes of one of Robert Kennedy's favorite passages from Jacques Maritain:

"Having given up God so as to be self-sufficient, man has lost track of his soul. He looks in vain for himself; he turns the universe upside down trying to find himself; he finds masks, and behind the masks, death."

The melancholy mood of the moment, of course, will pass. Facts are pitiless. After all the crying, the problems will remain and the delegates will probably turn to Humphrey and Nixon. Only an outcry from the people now will stop them.

MASON DENISON

Making the Grade

Pennsylvania News Service HARRISBURG—Pennsylvania Democrats in no uncertain terms are counting on a Democratic presidential win this fall to pull their irons out of the fire in the Keystone State.

The conviction is almost solid among top Democratic Party strategists in this state that unless their great leader does carry Pennsylvania they just aren't going to make the grade.

The feeling is rather firm (reluctantly) that if the Democratic candidate fails to tuck the state under his arm, down the drain will go hopes of Democratic wins in the two statewide fiscal offices of Auditor General and State Treasurer, to say nothing of fond hopes of capturing control of the State Legislature.

It is generally regarded that there is an outside chance some sort of victory within the state can be pulled should the state fall to go Democratic—but this is viewed as being so far "outside" it isn't really being given much more than even passing consideration.

This one "outside chance" interestingly enough rests upon the possibility (and Democrats don't know the answer) any more than anyone else) that the incumbent Republican Shafer Administration in the near two years it has been in office may have lost sharply the ground former Governor Scranton garnered in the 1962 gubernatorial run-off when he eked out his smashing victory.

This is the imponderable factor Democrats would "like" to consider; would like to think could mean something—but at the same time have a heavy feeling it is most impractical and most unlikely.

It's impossible to even remotely assess the "strength" of the Shafer tenure at this stage. At best it can be only an educated guess and notwithstanding some setbacks, it would seem that Democrats are on the short end of the stick.

Thus under such circumstances, Keystone State donkey riders face the only alternative of praying for a Democratic presidential sweep of William Penn's province.

It is felt that should this happen—and the feeling on the face of it seems to have strong validity—the "coattail" ride would be rather all-encompassing insofar as Democratic statewide and legislative office seekers are concerned.

Should this happen it would pose a most interesting situation, which Republicans well know would be next to "impossible" for them.

Should Democrats gain control of the Legislature—and even now Republicans hold the 203-seat House by only three votes and the 50-man Senate by one vote—a lot could happen.

Under such circumstances (that is, with Democrats in control of the two legislative chambers) chances are good Pennsylvania Republicans would be literally legislated out of business; that is, gubernatorial requests would have to come to the "opposition" virtually on bended knee—along with almost every other item.

This however would be just the beginning, should the Democratic presidential hopeful pack Pennsylvania in his pocket this November.

Should the coattail ride continue beyond the legislative limits—and into the two fiscal offices, which at the present time are in Democratic hands, it would mean that the Republican Shafer Administration in the two and a half remaining years of its tenure would have to continue to put up with opposition party checks (good) on its fiscal affairs.

There unquestionably would be a striking difference between the conduct of the two fiscal offices at present—and that within the next two and a half years, with four-year tenures under their belts.

With a gubernatorial coming up in 1970, the cross-party fire

Boosting Retirement Income

(Fourth in a Series)

Let's say you are about to retire. You have added up your total expected retirement income, from interest on savings, dividends, Social Security benefits, company pensions and other sources outlined in last Thursday's column.

You also have written down the amounts of retirement income you expect to need to pay for the shelter, food, clothes, transportation, recreation and other costs, according to the rules in Friday's column.

You find that your anticipated needs far outrun your anticipated income. Moreover, you haven't even taken into account the certainty that inflation will seriously erode your savings dollars and widen this gap. How will you be able to make ends meet?

You have two choices: to cut your expenses or to increase your income.

Here, first, are 10 ways in which you can boost your income:

- + Register with a temporary help agency to market your skills—for instance typing, accounting, engineering. Tests given by these agencies will help pinpoint your own skills if you are not already sure of what you want to do.
- + Study the help wanted ads for suitable part-time jobs—in stores, offices, hospitals, hotels, churches, etc.
- + Find out if your hobbies offer commercial possibilities. If you paint, for example, there's always a chance you can sell some aspect of your skill. If you know something about antiques, you might learn how to refinish furniture.

- + Review jobs you have held. There are many part-time opportunities today for former teachers, nurses, librarians.
- + Start a small business in your home. You might launch a baby-sitter service, a catering service, a woodworking shop or any one of hundreds of money-making activities. Or you might simply rent a room or two in your home.

- + Explore a part-time government job by visiting the nearest U.S. Civil Services Commission office. As a general rule, the Federal Government has a more welcoming attitude toward older workers than private industry has.

- + Inquire at your local high school, college or hospital about adult-education-training programs and special courses which could lead to paying part-time jobs. You might join a "career clinic" to get refresher courses in typing, nursing, food services, or sewing.

- + Launch a business outside your home to serve some special need in your area. Possibilities include repair services of every type, caretaking at nearby resorts, catering, gardening. The Small Business Administration in Washington will give you help on setting up your own business.

- + Investigate the possibility of a franchise with a reputable parent company. But you may have to invest substantially and hold through a period of loss. So make sure that there is a market for the product or service you want to sell and that you have the essential know-how in the field you choose.

- + Join a national organization welcoming older Americans on a semi-volunteer or paying basis in a variety of programs. Some of these are: The Office of Economic Opportunity's Foster Grandparent program, hiring low-income Americans aged 60 or over to care for institutionalized children; the Farmer's Union's Project Green Thumb in which retired farmers are paid to work on beautification projects; the Peace Corps, in which you may work in almost any type of project in an underdeveloped country; Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), which pays a small stipend plus living expenses to volunteers willing to live and work with rural and slum dwellers.

Tomorrow: How to cut the living costs.

Red Lights on the Counter

HARRISBURG — Betty Furness, lately the President's assistant for protecting consumers from con men, has had her tongue in her cheek ever since this writer was grinding out television reviews for the old Erie Dispatch. She came to Harrisburg this week to close the credibility gap.

Straight out of show business — where she used to sell the sizzle instead of the steak — Betty warned some 400 housewives who belong to the Pennsylvania Democratic Women's Federation that butchers are placing red lights along their counters to make the meat look redder.

Among the other vital community information discovered by Betty and her 20 professional aides in offices across the alley from the White House is the fact that a very hot iron "can spell disaster" for certain fabrics. Children? Hot burns. Cold is cool.

Betty complained that mechanical products, the like of which she used to sell, are too complicated. The ballroom of the Penn Harris Hotel is a long haul from Studio One—far enough away, apparently, for Betty's new writers to put this in her Harrisburg script:

"The dishwasher can only perform miracles if it works. And to get it to work he (the man of the house) is at the mercy of a repairman who may or may not show up."

There's one thing wrong with that line: The fact is there just aren't enough appliance repairmen to go around, which is not entirely the fault of the appliance manufacturers. The government worries over so many vital things, like overheated irons, that it has not heard the complaint of the tradesman.

People in the television repair business, in auto mechanics, in printing, and in brick-setting to name a few—are desperate in their search for trained manpower. The trouble is that public schools simply are not developing enough technical talent.

This has been acknowledged in an interesting fashion by the State Senate which has just established a special committee to study Pennsylvania's trade school systems.

Emphasis on academic subjects, the Senate's enabling resolution says, "discourages many persons with non-intellectual talent, and they leave the classroom before they are fully trained."

"An excess of academic requirements," it charges, "tends to discourage them and drive them away from school... Academic achievement is stressed to the detriment of youngsters who could do exceptionally well in industrial subjects or in the trades..."

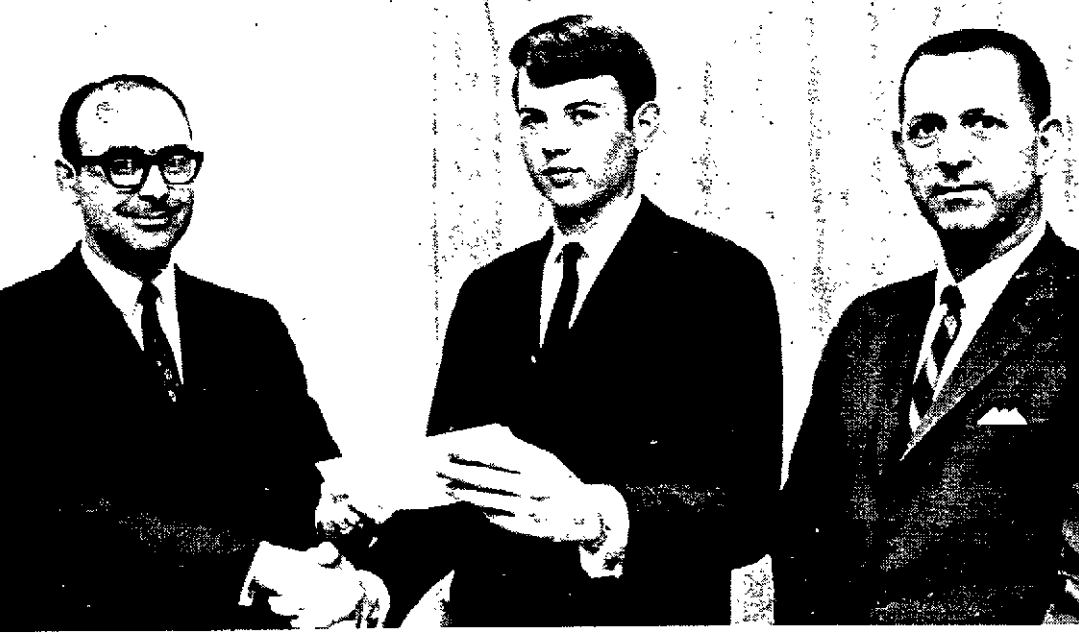

"Thousands of employers with jobs available in the less glamorous professions find that the skills they need are not readily available..."

Without so much as a tip of her bonnet to Bill Sennett, Pennsylvania's Republican attorney general who claims a major "consumer protection" victory over something called the Wig Racket, Betty Furness says it's the Democrats who are protecting the consumer.

But the Republicans are trying.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER

Peter Hoffman (center) is presented with the Struthers Wells Corp and Struthers Scientific and International Corp, combined scholarship. Philip Lively, director of industrial relations for Struthers, (left) makes the presentation. At the right is Frank Christy, director of pupil personnel services for the county school district. Hoffman, a 1968 graduate of Warren Area High School, is the third recipient of the grant. The scholarship program was begun in 1966.

Foresters Attend Training Session

Service Foresters Robert Popielski and Charles Thompson of Warren, and Ted Perdus of Meadville and Malcolm Waskiewicz of Franklin, are attending a week-long in-service training session of Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters at Lewistown, Pa.

The training is centered on ideas, techniques and methods developed recently in forest management.

The purpose is to equip service foresters to provide even better service to owners of private lands in the management of wood lots and forests.

Divers going to great depths in the ocean safely breathe a mixture of helium and oxygen gases. Helium replaces the nitrogen of ordinary air, which becomes toxic at high pressures.

Farmers Can Develop Springs and Seep Areas

"Most farms in Warren County have on their land springs and seep areas that, properly developed, could save many hundreds of dollars in comparison with the costs of digging or drilling deep wells or constructing ponds," observed Lyle Cathcart, Work Unit Conservationist Warren County office of Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, in discussing farm water supplies Friday.

These springs and seep areas, he adds, can be developed at surprisingly low cost. They can furnish ample water supplies for livestock, poultry, as well as for household and human consumption.

"There are many advantages to using springs and seeps," he says. "First of all they afford fresh water supplies at various intervals in pasture areas. Milk production can be increased because of the availability of good clean cool water. Grasslands can be utilized to far better advantage because cattle will graze pasture areas more uniformly." Further, he explains, with such water supplies it pays to lime and fertilize outer areas to develop better pastures.

A big advantage of clean water for livestock is that this prevents many common diseases to which animals are exposed when they drink polluted water.

When there is only one main water facility, near the barn, he adds, cattle must expend energy needlessly, by traveling to and from this water, that could better go into milk and meat production. With such single water source, cattle also have a tendency to stay near it, with the result that more remote pasture areas sometimes grow up to brush and rank hay that is no longer palatable to cattle.

Present-day dairy farming requires maintenance of good quality pasture, to keep milk production at its optimum.

Willis Ebner, Soil Conservation Technician, points out that spring installations are relatively low cost projects. "The quantity of water does not have to be very great," he remarks. "A steady flow of water no larger than the size of a pencil will actually supply plenty of water for many head of livestock."

Cathcart also remarked about the potential of developing springs for fishing. "I don't know why people who have some exceptional springs in Warren County don't develop commercial trout fishing operations," he comments. "These have proved very profitable in many regions, and many parts of Warren County are ideal for such facilities, because of adequate supplies of cold water necessary for trout fishing operations."

Cathcart emphasizes that the services of the Warren County offices of the Soil Conservation Service are available at all times for consultation and engineering services for development of springs and seep areas, as well as construction of ponds for both warm and cold water, for game fish or improving wild life habitat generally.

ing. To emulate Betty Furness, Governor Shafer has brought housewife-politico Virginia Knauer to Harrisburg to help dramatize Pennsylvania's "plight of the consumer". To achieve that goal, former Philadelphia Councilwoman Knauer has the assistance of a public relations firm with an open end contract for the production of news releases, articles, pamphlets and possibly a motion picture.

But this report would not be complete without one, final note from a girl reporter.

"Miss Furness," readers of the Harrisburg Patriot were advised, "was the essence of vitality, strikingly suited in a Donald Brooks cherry red wool model, its sleeveless bolero jacket exposing a crisp navy and white printed blouse. . . Her knife-pleated skirt cinched by its matching belt and her slick red patent shoes with chunky heels complete with pale champagne stockings. . . She carried, naturally, a matching cherry red leather portfolio—the badge of our women in Washington."

Go, thou, and do likewise, Mrs. Knauer.

LETTER TO EDITOR

The Memorial Day committee, which is composed of representatives of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Marine Corp League, has for many years conducted a Parade and Memorial service at the Oakland Cemetery in observance of Memorial Day. This is made possible through the co-operation of the Warren County Commissioners. For the past several years, the Committee felt that the people of Warren were losing interest in a Parade. This year the Committee decided to discontinue the Parade and only have Exercises at the Cemetery. Soon after publication of this report, many people asked the Committee to reconsider their decision.

After several meetings, the Committee decided to have a Procession planned after a formal funeral procession. The Committee felt that this would be a more fitting expression for Memorial Day. Donated in honor of soldier dead was the Riderless horse by Tackenhack Stables, the team of horses for the Caisson by Jack Kibbe and the Caisson by William

Dear Editor:

America is a sick society. All around us we find long haired, unwashed young people being raised on beer and L.S.D. We find hired "poor people" marching in Washington, threatening to commit mayhem if "their wishes" are not granted. We find rioting in nearly every major city in the U.S.A., many of the instigators of the riots are employed by Johnson's "poverty" program. (Oh, yes! Newark, New Jersey for example.) We find that higher taxes are the administration's answers for all the country's ills, from the gold flow to the street riots. We find our country is ruled by unscrupulous people who now feel a lie is not evil if it accomplishes the job (and it never does, of course). Some of the long haired crowd even are running for the highest office of our land—yes, I mean the one who said he'd "be glad to give my blood to the Viet Cong."

Our "leaders" are working feverishly to remove from respectful citizens any means they might retain to protect themselves. (God only knows how much we need protection) including gun ownership—while our supreme court is striking down GOOD gun laws that keep criminals from acquiring and possessing machine guns. (Jan. 29, 1968 decision). And now we find that the apparently sensible men of the supreme court have struck another blow against law and order and have literally freed 485 convicted murderers from the death row. No wonder our crime rate is climbing.

And to compound these difficulties (and many, many others) straight from the credibility gap we receive the glorious news, "Don't worry if there is no gold or silver to back your money—it is backed by the integrity of the U.S. Government." Perish the thought! WHAT integrity?

I hereby openly admit that I do not know all the answers, but the glorious revered leader of our "Great Society" does not even know a problem exists.

President Johnson recently made the statement "I fail to see any signs that America is a sick society." Either Johnson is utterly blind and ignorant of the signs of moral, spiritual, and political decay very prevalent around us or he is achieving the exact purpose he set out to attain.

SHOCKING METHOD

DENVER (AP)—Another method of shocking smokers into giving up the habit has been outlined here.

This method uses electricity. The device is a pocket-size electronic cigarette case developed at a Veterans Administration Hospital in Coral Gables, Fla.

Each time the smoker reaches for a cigarette, he gets hit with an electrical shock, Dr. Malcolm Kushner explained. Eventually, he said, this builds a conditioned response against smoking.

The shock can last from 30 seconds to three minutes, depending on how long the top of the case stays open, Dr. Kushner said.

He said that pilot studies produced promising results. Tests on 20 persons showed five gave up smoking for 16 to 21 months, and nine others had varying degrees of reduction in smoking.

The device was described at a Veterans Administration Cooperative Studies in Psychiatry Conference here.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I see by the wire services that a mortician in Georgia has gone in for drive-in display windows for those who want to view a deceased friend or relative but are too busy to park their cars and come inside. The mortician is constructing five windows six feet long—just the right size for an open coffin. The display will face a driveway at the side of the funeral home which is located on a busy street. The deceased will be lying in a lighted window, slightly tilted to make viewing easier. The mortician who dreamed up the idea says people seem to like it. According to him, folks are in a hurry these days and the drive-in display means they can come any hour of the day or night and they don't have to get dressed in their good clothes. I would appreciate your comments.—CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: The Russians have beat us again. Lenin has been on display under glass for years. "Have you seen the cold-cuts yet?" is a question asked of all American tourists who visit Moscow. In Russia, however, you must stand in line, sometimes for several hours. Digger O'Dell from Dixie seems to have come up with the ultimate in convenience. Or, as they say in Georgia — "Man, that's really livin'!"

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Dad is away a lot and Mom has a hard job making us toe the line because Dad is the tough one in the family. All three of us kids are taller than Mom—even my brother who is 14. My 16-year-old brother is 6'11" and I am 17 and 6'2".

A few months ago Mom and us kids were watching the hockey game on TV. When the referee fined one of the players for mouthing off, Mom said, "That's a great idea. I think I'll do it with you kids." The fines ranged from 15 cents to 50 cents depending on the infraction. Mom kept track and at the end of the week she deducted the fines from our allowance. After a month we decided it made sense to speak with respect.

Yesterday I was awfully proud of Mom. Someone asked her how she trained her boys to be so polite. She said, "Oh, they were never much trouble." So you see, she didn't tell on us. Wouldn't you say we have a terrific mother?—JOEY

DEAR JOEY: Yup. And I'd also say you sound like a trio of cool cats. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Six months ago my wife caught our 16-year-old daughter smoking in the basement. My wife told Carmen she would rather have her smoke in front of her face than behind her back. So now Carmen smokes in front of her face.

My mother who is 81 years old does not approve of women smoking, much less high school girls. We go to Grandma's house for dinner the first Sunday of every month. I told Carmen that when we go to Grandma's next week she is not allowed to smoke. Her answer was, "Why be two-faced?" What's more, she insists that so long as her mother and I let her smoke it is none of Grandma's business.

My wife says she doesn't know how to answer Carmen because she does have a point. What do you say?—UNDEC'DED

DEAR UNDEC'DED: So your daughter has a point. Well, so does your wife, but if she combs her hair to the side maybe nobody will notice it.

Carmen should be told that she will show the proper respect for her grandmother and refrain from smoking in her presence. Period.

Marjorie M. Boser Becomes Bride Of Curtis W. Brew

Marjorie M. Boser and Curtis W. Brew were married on Saturday, June 8, at St. Bonaventure Church in Allegheny, N.Y. The Rev. Father Stephan MacMahon officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of five hundred guests. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Boser, Maple avenue extension, Allegheny, N.Y. The groom is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Brew of 226 Buchanan street, Warren.

Mrs. Pauline Vreeland of Allegheny was soloist for the ceremony, and Edward Collins, also of Allegheny, provided the organ music. Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of delicately embroidered silk organza in a cage silhouette over a fitted bridal taffeta sheath. Venice lace circled the bateau neckline and edged the long bishop sleeves. Her train was formed by a chapel length veil of illusion designed as a mantilla with garlands of Venice lace. She carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis, accented by a white orchid.

Miss Carol Boser of Allegheny, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a Nile green floor length A-line gown of chiffon over linen with a satin back panel topped with tiny petals and a rosette. Her headpiece was a floor length veil attached to a pill-box crown. She carried a cascade of white carnations tipped in green. The bridesmaids, gowned in apricot identically to the honor attendant and carrying cascades of carnations tipped in apricot, were Miss Cindy Boser, sister of the bride, Miss Carol Brew and Miss Joyce Brew, sisters of the groom, and Miss Becky Murphy and Miss Barb Landers, all of Warren. The attendants' headpieces were made by an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Edward Kissel of Salamanca, N.Y.

Miss Marlen Kissel of Salamanca, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, dressed identically to the bridesmaids. Billy Murphy of Warren acted as ring-bearer. The best man was Denny Valone of Warren. Serving as ushers were Donald Brew, brother of the groom, and Steve Gilotte, Mark Anderson, Jeff Carlson, and Brad Waxman, all of Warren. Following the ceremony there was a dinner at the Castle for two hundred fifty guests; the reception, for five hundred guests, was held at the Pulaski Club. Music was provided by the Chevilles of Buffalo. The six-tier wedding cake, made by the mother of the bride, was trimmed with apricot-tipped roses and accented by the bridal couple used on the cake of the bride's parents at their wedding. The Papal Blessing was bestowed upon the new Mr. and Mrs. Brew. After a wedding trip to New York City, the couple will reside at 800 Pennsylvania avenue west in Warren. The bride is a 1967 graduate of Archbishop Walsh High School and a 1967 graduate of IBM Data Processing Institute in Jamestown, N.Y. She is employed in the data processing department of Marlin Rockwell Corp., in Jamestown. Mr. Brew, a 1966 graduate of Warren Area High School, is presently employed at Midtown Motors, Inc., in Warren. Out-of-town guests came from Elmhurst, L. I.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; York, Pa.; Jamestown, N.Y.; Buffalo, N.Y.; and Warren.

TETANUS SHOTS

Q. Each year before our two children go to summer camp they receive protective shots, including tetanus. Is this necessary?

A. You should be guided by the advice of your family doctor and that of the camp authorities. The present thinking of the American Public Health Association on tetanus immunization is this: A fully immunized person (one who has received three injections of toxoid not less than four weeks apart followed by a reinforcing dose 8 to 12 months later) need not be given annual boosters. Under such circumstances, and in the absence of injury, the Association recommends a reinforcing shot every 10 years.

INJECTION BLOTCHES

Q. Several years ago I received treatment for varicose veins. The skin where the injections were made is now quite discolored. Can the blotches be removed?

A. Darkening of the skin is not uncommon after injection treatment for varicose veins. The discoloration tends to fade with time. However, if the skin is still discolored after six months or so, it is not likely that the spot will disappear completely. A dermatologist (skin doctor) may be consulted about the possibility of improving the condition.

it's the little things that make gas heat so great!

The cost, for instance.

There are a lot of great things about Gas heat. You take them for granted. Clean, circulating, whole-house heat seems as natural as . . . fresh air. But the biggest thing about Gas heat is the littleness of the cost—about one-third the cost of electric heat. Maybe the cost of heating your home with Gas doesn't seem like such a big thing to you.

That's because it isn't.

In identical ensembles of royal blue were bridesmaids, Miss Linda Brewster, cousin of the bride, and Miss Alice Haller, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Lois Danielson, also cousin of the bride, and Miss Anne Haller, another sister of the bridegroom, were also bridesmaids groomed in emerald green.

ACNE CANNOT BE PREVENTED

Acne is not caused by dirt, but is more associated with an oily skin. It is not primarily a dietary disease, but large intake of some foods can aggravate acne. Chocolate, sweets and fats should be avoided. Properly used, some acne lotions and creams are beneficial. We will be glad to help you select a good product. Christian Scientists Stress Need for Individual Effort

Today's world of destructive upheaval and tremendous change calls men to be spiritual builders.

This appeal from The Christian Science board of directors was heard recently by over seven thousand Christian Scientists, gathered here from around the world for the annual meeting of The First Church of Christ, Scientists, in Boston, Mass.

The message from the board of directors, read by Arthur P. Wuth, its new chairman, stressed individual effort as the first step in any attempt to help solve the world's ills.

"Poverty, ignorance, war, racial conflict, immorality, civil disorder, mental and physical enslavement exemplify standards torn down, spiritual ideals desecrated, the best of civilization fallen into disuse," Mr. Wuth said.

Nehemiah's example as a spiritual builder was cited as still vital and useful to Christians today. In rebuilding the wall of Jerusalem, Mr. Wuth explained, Nehemiah was making practical his own understanding of God and His kingdom.

"It is not the need then for individuals dedicated to their work, committed and consecrated to the task of spiritual building?" he asked.

Singing out war and racial conflict as two of the major problems which the Church must confront, Mr. Wuth said:

"The Church must fulfill the requirements of peace by teaching the practicality of the great commandments—love for God and love for one's neighbor. It must teach the aliveness of God, good, the impersonality of evil, and the ability of the individual, whatever his race or color, to demonstrate this. 'Harmony, order, and peace know no color line,' They belong to the spiritual heritage of each individual; and it is the responsibility of Church to assert, demonstrate and maintain this standard."

The healing and uplifting work of Jesus, Mr. Wuth said, attested the practicality of spiritual building by means of prayer and inspiration.

Mary Baker Eddy, who discovered and founded Christian Science, taught the need for each individual to contribute to the progress and regeneration of society through spiritual building, he said.

The Christian Scientists visiting Boston this year noticed many changes resulting from the large building project now underway. Considerable demolition and foundation work has already been completed. Construction is expected to begin this month on a new Administration Building, a new Sunday School building and a large multi-purpose building.

At present the activities at the headquarters of the denomination are carried out in eight different buildings, so that centralization of facilities and personnel is long overdue. The new Church Center is expected to be under construction for about two and one half years,

Robert Ache to Attend Fire Control Meeting

District Forester Robert K. Ache will represent Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters District 14 at a meeting of Northeastern Forest Fire Control Supervisors, June 24 through 27, 1968.

Approximately 150 representatives from 20 northeastern states, as well as from several Eastern Provinces of Canada, will attend this annual four day event.

Demonstrations of the latest, most modern fire equipment used in suppression of forest fires will be one of the special features of the Northeastern Forest Fire Control Supervisors meeting.

Host for the event will be the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters division of Forest Protection. An interesting program includes demonstrations slated for Tuesday, June 25, at Gifford Pinchot State Park, along Route 74 in northern York County. In addition to ground equipment used in forest fire fighting, also planned is an air tanker and helitanker demonstration on Pinchot Park Lake, to show the effectiveness of using this type of equipment on forest fires.

Theme for this year's meeting is "People, Problems and Protection."

Conversational Counselling And Compost

By Bernie Wingert, County Agent

That leaf-eating "canker-worm" is back again starting to chomp shade, forest and fruit trees. Right now it's pretty small in diameter, light green, and only about 3/4 of an inch long, but give it three weeks of leaf-eating and it will get fatter, longer, and uglier.

Cankerworms are called different things by people — some say loopers, others say inchworms, and others say measuring worms. When they're hanging down on the picnic table and dropping into shirt collars, I've even heard more descriptive and academic names for the rascals.

For three years I've been telling this story to many, many people inquiring about them so this may be repetition to you, but for many others it's still a mystery. The great majority of these worms are fall cankerworms. This means the eggs were laid in the trees last fall. Here's how the cycle goes.

Eggs are hatched and produce a small green worm. This worm eats for several weeks growing and turning darker in color. By July they will have eaten their fill and will have dropped to the ground and crawled beneath the surface. Next fall around hunting season time a brownish-gray moth emerges from the ground. The ladies have no wings and they crawl up nearby tree trunks and simply wait for a mate. The gentlemen have wings and you can see them flying in the woods by the thousands. In the tree limbs they mate, and the female deposits her eggs for the next spring's generation.

Now there are several ways to stop this operation — one is to spray the trees in the next week or so with an insecticide such as SEVIN, lead arsenate, or methoxychlor. Any one of these will kill the worm and your trees won't be eaten bare. A single welltimed spray will give control.

The other way to control them is to prevent the wingless females from crawling up the trunks in the fall of the year. Commercially prepared sticky tree bands wrapped around the tree trunk will do this job. The bands must be placed on the trees by the end of October. This sticky tree band business is a nuisance and I still prefer the spray as a control method.

One happy note in the cankerworm song is the fact that a long black beetle has joined the fight. I've noticed a lot of them in the Warren area this past week. It's called CALLOSOMA FRIGIDUM or GROUND BEETLE. I just finished a phone conversation with our insect expert at the University, Mr. Lloyd Adams. He tells me that when you begin to see this black, front pincered beetle in large numbers you can expect the cankerworm to disappear. These beetles eat many different kinds of insects, but are particularly fond of caterpillar type worms. The beetle is a killer and runs madly up and down the tree just pinching cankerworms in two and not bothering to eat but a few of them.

By the way, they may come into your house, however, they won't hurt your rugs or your clothes. They may pinch if you pick them up. Treat them kindly, please — they're nicer to have in your trees than cankerworms.

Family Hiking

In a world that has seemingly gone mad it is still possible to have faith in the old verities, and to believe that "God's in his heaven, all's right with the world." One way to renew one's faith is to take to the woods on a bright June day with good companions. This I did last

Stotz

Sunday when I joined a group of forty-six other hikers on a trip sponsored by the Allegheny Outdoor Club. With Jim Palmer as leader, we hiked from the Hatch Run road to Gardner's Rocks. We were strung out along a rocky road that soon degenerated into a muddy, rutted byway lined with blue violets, wild geraniums, and white trilliums.

This was a family-style hike per excellence. The American Indian invented the cradle board for transporting papooses, but some enterprising Yankee was quick to improve upon it. And so the youngest member of our group—a ten-month old boy—rode piggy back on his father's broad shoulders in an aluminum and cloth adaptation of the Indian cradle board.

There were nearly as many children as adults on the hike, and they all proved their metal by making the round trip of four miles without complaint. The long line of hikers came to a halt while the children crowded around a pool of water, that had formed in the poorly drained road, and caught polliwogs. The little black, whale-shaped creatures with tiny tails weren't hard to catch, and they provided a new thrill to the sense of touch as the children let them wriggle in the palms of their hands for a few delicious moments before they returned them to their little land-locked "ocean."

If the bird watchers in the group were disappointed by the scarcity of bird life along the line of march, those interested in wild flowers were not. I have been disappointed on so many hikes by the small number of flowers I have found in the woods. Those hikes were oh overstocked deer ranges, but on last Sunday's hike there was no evidence of heavy deer use.

MORE THAN EQUAL RIGHTS
MILLINGTON, Tenn. (AP) — Customers at the Navy Exchange automobile service station at the naval base here do a double-take when they see the attendants are women.

Manager H. R. Walker said he hired the women, wives of service personnel, because of a large turnover in male attendants. He said they do the job well and business is just about the same as usual.

But one of the lady attendants had a complaint. Mrs. John Rinehart said when she and her husband went home to Oklahoma on leave "my dad and brothers and brothers-in-law kept asking me to check the oil and tires."

Wild flowers were abundant and included Wild Columbine, Bluets, May Flower, Foam Flower, Wood Betony, Violets, Buttercup, Wild Geranium, Trilliums, Bishop's Cap, and three species of Orchids. The rarest of the orchids observed was the Yellow Lady Slipper. Another orchid nearly as rare for this locality was the beautiful Moccasin Flower. A less conspicuous orchid encountered, but not yet in bloom, was the Large Round-Leaved Orchid. The urge to pick the Yellow Lady Slipper and the Moccasin Flower is strong among most people who encounter these exotic flowers. For this reason, our native orchids are becoming increasingly rare. The members of the Allegheny Outdoor Club looked, but they did not pick.

A perfect woodland hike, like a well developed novel, must reach a climax. Gardner's Rocks was the climax of our hike, and the towering fortress-like rocks of gray sandstone and conglomerate brooded on a steep hillside. The huge outcroppings were laced with many narrow and steep passageways through which the children could travel with ease. But entrance was denied to their elders, even though there weren't many paunchy ones among us.

The rich, black woodland soil was covered with a thin layer of duff which offered no protection to the small bottoms that scraped it aside as they slid down the steep inclines between the vertical walls of rock. Every child left the area with a tell-tale black smear on the seat of his pants.

On top of the rocks could be found wild honeysuckle bushes in full bloom. Their pink flowers added a touch of brilliant color to the rocky landscape.

Players Miss Games; Economic Pressures By Management Cited

HOUSTON (AP) — Rusty Staub and Bob Aspromonte of the Houston Astros failed to show up for the Astros' game with Pittsburgh Sunday after player representative Dave Giusti said the team had voted to play the game only because of "very definite economic pressures" from General Manager Spec Richardson.

Maury Wills, player representative of the Pirates, also did not appear at the Astrodome for the game. The Pirates' Roberto Clemente had indicated he would not play but after a 10-minute talk with Manager Larry Shepard said he would.

These developments came as the result of the controversy over whether the teams should play on this national day of mourning for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

There was no immediate comment from Richardson on the report that any Astro who did not show up Sunday would be fined $3,000.

The only comment Richardson would make came Saturday night. "I'm very happy that they will honor their contract," he said after the players had voted to play Sunday's game. "I'm happy they're going to play. Other than that I have no comment."

Drysdale Breaks Record; Thinks Dodgers Can Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Records more than a half-century old have fallen to Los Angeles Dodger right-hander Don Drysdale, feats only less surprising than his prognostication: "I think the Dodgers can win the pennant."

Drysdale found his lost dog named "Shoutout" most appropriately, but his shutout string also came to an end Saturday night against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Howie Bedell, in his second official time at bat this season, hit a sacrifice fly in the fifth inning to end the string at 58 2-3 innings.

But Drysdale has rewritten the record books. His six straight shutouts are a major league record and when he retired Roberto Pena in the third inning, he also erased the longest shutout winning string of 56 by Walter "Big Train" Johnson of the Washington Senators in 1913.

Los Angeles went on to win the game 5-3 although Drysdale was knocked out in the seventh inning.

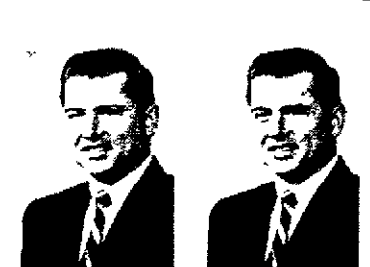

He now has won seven straight and the Dodgers, tabbed for the second division, have surged into second place by winning six straight and nine of their last 10 games.

"I think all good things have to come to an end," observed the 6-foot-6 veteran in his 13th major league season. "I knew it would happen sooner or later. I'm just happy I could break a record. My biggest hope was that we could win the game."

Bonallack Wins Third British Amateur Title

TROON, Scotland (AP) — Michael Bonallack of England went home Sunday with his third British amateur golf championship and said: "It's just great. Now I don't have to qualify for the British Open and I'm also eligible for the next U.S. Masters."

The 33-year-old Englishman defeated his Walker Cup captain, Joe Carr of Ireland, 7 and 6 in Saturday's final over Groom's 7,130-yard par 36-37-73 course.

Carr started out well in the 36-hole final, but then his long game deserted him. He made some fine recovery shots but could not get away with much wild play against a golfer Scots nicknamed "Mike the Machine."

Bonallack played some fine pitch shots and went to lunch six up. He then went seven up at the 28th hole where he sank a five-iron. The next two holes were halved and the match was over.

Bonallack, also a Walker Cup player, previously won the title in 1961 and 1965. Carr, 13 years older than Bonallack, won in 1953, 1958 and 1960.

John Ball of England holds the record number of titles in the championship. He collected it eight times between 1888 and 1912.

Thirty-nine Americans were in the original field of 236. Warren Vanderbush, a 23-year-old airman from Closter, N.J., did the best. He was knocked out in the round of 16 by Carr.

Millersville Win PSCAC

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Millersville State College, winner of six of eight league games was declared Monday baseball champion of the Pennsylvania State College Athletic Conference (PSCAC) for 1968.

The Marauders, 12-5 overall, obtained a rating of 200 out of a possible 300 under a point system based on strength and weakness of opponents.

West Chester (4-2 in the conference) was runner-up with a 183 rating, followed by East Stroudsburg (5-3) with 167.

All three teams competed in the eastern division of the 12-team circuit.

Slippery Rock of the Western Division finished undefeated in conference play with a 4-0 mark, scoring double victories over California and Edinboro. However, the PSCAC requires that in order to secure a conference rating, a team must complete against at least three different opponents.

The Rockets, nevertheless, finished the season with a 16-game winning streak and a 16-1 record.

One-Man Track Team Turns to Football

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — Cecil Turner, Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo's one-man track team, officially ends his track career this week when he reports to the Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

For the University of California at Santa Barbara, Turner's retirement comes just a little too late.

The Santa Barbara school had its heart set on capturing the National Collegiate Athletic Association's College Division track title here last weekend, but Turner personally accounted for 30% of points for his team, giving it more than enough for the title.

Turner won the 100-meter dash in 10.3 and the long jump at 24-3/4, ran on Poly's winning 440-yard relay team and took second in the 200-meters to Clyde Glosson of Trinity, Tex., who won in 20.7.

Turner is due in the Bear's rookie camp this Friday and though he has regrets about passing up the NCAA University Division meet at Berkeley, Calif., this week and a shot at the Olympics, he admits the football money spoke loudest.

The first six finishers in each event can enter the Berkeley meet, in which the first three

Wise Recovers From Head Injury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Philadelphia pitcher Rick Wise, hit on the head by a line drive Thursday night, sustained no serious injury and will be able to take his regular turn on the mound.

It won't be until next week, however, since Wise left for Philadelphia and weekend duty in the Army Reserve.

Phil's traveling secretary Charles Meister said Wise suffered a slight cut at his hairline, by X-rays showed no serious injury although the pitcher continued to have a headache at the time he flew east.

Warren County Places 37 In Ike Junior Olympics

By DAN PRATZ

LANDER — The Allegheny Mountain Association AAU Junior Olympic Meet was held here Saturday afternoon bringing promising results for Warren County as 37 athletes placed in the top two giving themselves berths in the finals at Meadville this Saturday, June 15.

The Eisenhower Knights contributed over half of the county entries as they totaled 28 first and second placers in the five division meet. Youngsville was second for the county as they placed five to send to Meadville while Sheffield enters three and Warren sends one.

The Bantam Division, nine and under, saw three first placers go to county lads. Mark Withrow picked up the 50 yd. dash victory for Youngsville in 7.8. Two Sheffield fieldmen netted victories. Mark Sheffield leaped 11-feet 3/4-inches in the long jump for first spot and Bob McClellan hurled the softball 103-feet 9-inches for his win.

Anyone who placed first or second in any event and is not able to enter the meet in Meadville should contact Tom Firth in Russell, Pa., at 757-8862. The third place man may enter the competition as an alternate if either the first or second place man cannot enter the competition for personal reasons.

Tim Sandberg of Youngsville was a triple winner in the Midget Division. Sandberg netted wins in the 440 yd. dash, high jump and triple jump. The versatile thincled ran a 1:12.5 for first place in the 10-11 group, leaped 4-feet 3-inches in the high jump and hopped-stepped and jumped 25-feet 8 1/2-inches in the triple.

Mark Thompson was a double winner for Eisenhower in the Midget Division. Thompson placed second in the 440 yd. dash to Sandberg and placed first in the softball throw with a heave of 140-feet 5-inches. Bob Schuchard captured a second spot in the long jump for Eisenhower and Kevin French of Sheffield placed second in the Midget high jump.

Only one childman in the county was able to make the grade to go onto Meadville in the Junior Division, 12 and 13. Jim Avery of Youngsville placed second in the junior softball throw to earn himself a berth in the regional finals.

The Intermediate Division, 14 and 15, saw Dave Allenson finish second to North East's Gary Murray in the 880 yd. run. Murray won the event with a time of 2:06. Denny Landin netted a second place in the 70 yard low hurdles for Ike while Ike's Jamie Nesmith placed first in the intermediate pole-vault with a leap of 10-feet. The Eisenhower 440 yd. relay team placed second in the Intermediate Division.

Andy Bosko captured a victory in the 880 yd. run for Eisenhower with a time of 2:11.6. First and second spots in the twomile run were captured by county boys. Larry Maxwell of Warren placed first and Mark Backstrom of Eisenhower placed second.

The high jump first and second spots were dominated by the Hothner family as older brother Martin placed first with his best leap over 6-feet 2 3/4-inches. Brother Bob finished second to his older brother with a leap of 5-feet 6-inches.

Gary Dairymple netted the pole vault victory as he hit his best ever by leaping 12-feet 9-inches. The leap beats the regional record now standing of 12-feet 1-inch by quite a bit, however, the meet at Meadville will determine regional records broken.

Martin Hothner came through for Ike in the shot put by placing second to Corry's Dan Corbett. Randy Phillips netted a second place spot in the triple jump for Ike. The relays saw the Knights take a first and second. The Blue and Gold 440 yd. relay team was victorious in the Senior division while the mile relay team finished second.

The Regional finals will be held in Meadville this week-end starting promptly at 10:00 a.m. All Bantam, Midget and Junior track and field events will be run in the morning while the Intermediate and Senior events, both track and field, are run in the afternoon.

The Eisenhower Cinderellas must be complimented on running the meet so effectively. The Cinderellas must also be given praise for providing the funds to sponsor a meet of this size. Fifty-five events were scheduled to be run with twenty-one teams entering the competition.

Olympic Group Gives Athletes Time to Heal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Outstanding athletes hit with illness or injury may yet have a chance to secure a spot on the Mexico City-bound U.S. Olympic team — if they can heal by mid-September, says the head of the nation's track and field committee.

"Operating under the 'unfairness rule,'" Chairman Hilmer Lodge said "our committee is going to try to supply America the best possible athletes for our team in Mexico City. Our purpose certainly is not to keep anybody out."

The most noted athletes involved in the ruling are Jim Ryun, Oliver Ford and Richmond Flowers.

World record-holding miler Ryun has been stricken with mononucleosis. Ford, co-holder of the world's record for the 100 meters with a mark of 10 seconds, suffered an instep fracture. Hurdler Flowers is out with a pulled hamstring muscle.

Normally they would compete in events leading up to the final Olympic trials to be held here June 29-30.

But under the "unfairness rule," which calls for final high-altitude tests at South Lake Tahoe starting Sept. 15, it is possible that certain athletes could win a spot on the team without qualifying in the June trials.

Brundage Discusses Rhodesia Ban In Olympic Games

CHICAGO (AP) — The president of the International Olympic Committee said Friday there was nothing his group could do about a "political" denial of participation by Rhodesia in the Olympic Games at Mexico City next October.

Avery Brundage, 80-year-old IOC chief, said he was notified by cable of the decision by Mexico's Olympic Organizing Committee that Rhodesia could not compete in the Games because of a May 29 resolution by the Security Council of the United Nations.

The UN decision keeps Rhodesians from entry into all United Nations member countries. Rhodesia has declared its independence from Great Britain which has declined to recognize the move.

"This doesn't concern the IOC or the Mexican Organizing Committee at all," said Brundage. "All the United Nations agree that no Rhodesians are permitted in their countries, what can we do about it."

"I understand the UN resolution also urged airlines to recognize the embargo of Rhodesians in UN countries. Are we supposed to get those people to Mexico in moon vessels?"

Brundage recalled the IOC's recent action in barring South Africa from the Olympic Games following an international turmoil and threatened boycotts when that country received an earlier IOC approval to compete at Mexico City.

"Here we have another case (Rhodesia) throwing the Olympic movement into the middle of an international controversy when the cause is political and has nothing at all to do with sports," said Brundage.

"It's a sad commentary on the state of the world, a tragedy of our times, when political pressures can intimidate a truly democratic group which calls for a true brotherhood of man in the field of sports."

Brundage stressed that the IOC action in banning South Africa was not because of that country's racial policy but because of potential violence if South Africa participated at Mexico City.

"Our action is somewhat supported by the tragic event that just has happened," said Brundage in obvious reference to the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Crickets Club Awarded Two Tennis Meets

NEW YORK (AP) — The Germantown Cricket Club of Philadelphia has been awarded the senior tennis singles and doubles and the father and son championships, the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association said.

The championships will be played from Aug. 24 to Sept. 1. The senior championships previously were played at Forest Hills in New York while the father and son play was held at Longwood Cricket Club in Boston.

The advent of a U.S. open competition, involving both amateurs and pros, triggered the relocation of the tournaments.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠J943 ♠A6 ♠952 ♠KQ7
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Dbie. Pass ?

What do you bid?
A.—You have an average hand in high cards (10 points) and a second suit, which make game prospects very bright opposite a takeout double. The method of conveying this bit of information is to bid one more than necessary. The proper call is two spades.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠Q73 ♠J64 ♠AJ1073 ♠A8
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—A raise to four hearts is clearly indicated. Holding three trumps to an honor and a short suit, there can be no doubt as to this choice. A bid of three no trumps merely because you have touchy stoppers in all the suits, would be highly improper.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, and as dealer you hold:
♠AQ ♠AQ642 ♠AK4 ♠A65
What is your opening bid?
A.—Despite the wealth of high cards, an opening bid of two hearts is not recommended. It is fractionally short of the prescribed requirements. Our choice is for a bid of one no trump. If partner has nothing he is permitted to pass. But if he has a bare smattering of high card strength he will raise to three.

Q. 4—You are South, East-West vulnerable, and you hold:
♠1073 ♠AK65 ♠K943 ♠KQ
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♠ 1 ♠ ?

What do you bid?
A.—There cannot be much doubt that you will have a very fine play for game, but there may be richer stakes available. Against the adverse diamond contract, it is reasonable to estimate that you will win five tricks, three in high cards and two in no trumps. If partner can win the expected three, you will score a plus of 500 points which is more than the value of your game. Double.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠Q7 ♠AQ4 ♠A53 ♠J10752
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Partner has shown a preference for spades over no trump and very likely has a six-card suit. Since you have only one diamond stopper, and partner may be short in that suit, we recommend a raise to four spades.

Q. 6—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠KQ94 ♠AKQ3 ♠KQ103 ♠K
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Since there can be little concern about the texture of the trump suit, there is at the moment only one pertinent factor, and that is the number of aces held by partner. If he has three, a grand slam can hardly be missed. If he has two, a small slam should be a virtual cinch. If he has but one, five should be safe, and if he has none I'll be surprised. There is a remote possibility of getting overboard, but it is too remote for serious consideration and the recommended call is a Blackwood bid of four no trump.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠QJ6 ♠Q103 ♠K973 ♠1043
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Dbie. Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Since partner has doubled and then bid no trump, his hand must be at least as good as an opening one no trump bid. You have eight points and should, therefore, raise to two no trump.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠AKQ102 ♠7 ♠KJ ♠AJ102
The bidding has proceeded:
East South

What do you bid?
A.—We recommend the natural bid of four spades. If partner has over so little you should be able to make it, and surely you would not expect to be down more than one trick. A mere overcall of three spades would be inadequate.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is according to the stars.

FOR MONDAY, JUNE 10, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 10)—Avoid a tendency to rush things through if there is much on the docket. Heed warnings and you can save much re-doing. Shun useless disputes, but DO discuss calmly.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—A different tack may be the trick you need now. See all sides of a project or discussion, and do not permit pleasure to supersede duties.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—You should enjoy a lively feeling of usefulness and a forward propulsion now. Keep eyes on target and don't be sidetracked to your disadvantage.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Some discord in business and work matters is possible. But normally you can hold an even keel, keep your affairs in order, and your talents directed toward winning top returns. Do all this now.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Apply the brakes if you sense that you are overreaching, overshooting the mark. It is a handicap to follow a set pattern at all times. Observe changes that call for adjustments on your part.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—There is no limit to progress, once your mind is attuned to it, and abilities used to their fullest. Here is surely a day for it! Emphasize your versatility.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Not everything may run as anticipated, but you have the talent for prudent pushing and also waiting out returns. Be careful on journeys, in business transactions.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Adhere to rules and regulations and follow them conscientiously. This is day's rigid dictum. If you do, you will have easy going.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Jupiter influences generous. You can make this day stand out by adding a touch of originality to your work and through more exhaustive study of the fine points.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—You will have numerous ways to achieve in top manner, and MANNER is the key word. However, there's need for better perspective, and for straightening out the order of things.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Correct errors and flaws in your program as soon as you note them. You are keen, so they won't be hard to detect. Don't be over-cautious and lose vantage points, however.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—The earlier you begin, the sooner you will attain. Take time between regular activities to get other ventures planned. An all-around good day.

YOU BORN TODAY are eager, cheerful, wholesome, a charming if sometimes a puzzling companion. When a new idea hits you, you act on it quickly, pursue it while your interest remains, but may drop it before giving it sufficient time to produce results. This is the Gemini's besetting sin—dropping one activity for the freshness of another. You can do a bang-up job of any assignment you undertake and are a steady producer of effective achievement. Your versatility, progressiveness and imagination are outstanding. You love life, people and gay surroundings; are always happiest when "on the go." A tendency to overtax yourself, because of all this, MUST be curbed if you are to maintain health.

Birthdate of: Judy Garland, singer, actress.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

(c) 1968 By The Chicago Tribune

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

INSENSITIVE TO PAIN

Some people never feel pain and a few of them also lack the sense of taste or smell. The condition is present from birth. They may be ticklish, but itching does not occur. America's pioneer neurologist, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, wrote about a friend who never experienced pain in his life.

On one occasion, Dr. Mitchell's friend smashed his finger during a political wrangle and bit off the crushed end. An ulcer on the man's toe that would have prevented most of us from walking, didn't bother him a bit. Cataracts were removed from both eyes without an anesthetic.

Edward H. Gibson, the "human pincushion," had an unusual vaudeville act in which he invited the audience to stick pins into any part of his body, except the abdomen and groin. He offered $5,000 to any physician who could detect signs of distress.

One of his acts, however, backfired. Gibson prepared a wooden cross on the stage with four gold spikes ready for his crucifixion. The experiment was not completed, because after the assistant had hammered the first spike through the palm of one hand, several members of the audience collapsed. That disturbance broke up the show.

Indifference to pain is not always total. Headache or other discomfort may be felt by a few. This abnormality should not be confused with insensitivity to pain occurring in the mentally retarded, hysterical, or psychotic. During hypnosis an indifference to many sensations may be induced.

Lack of pain perception is hazardous, because the person never knows when he steps on a nail or sustains a serious burn. In this respect, pain is an asset, serving as a warning of impending danger.

TOMORROW: Sweaty Feet.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

PEOPLE ARE DIFFERENT

A reader writes: My husband drinks like a fish, eats like a horse, and is built like Superman. He also takes tranquilizers and his blood pressure and heart are perfect. How does he do it? He has done this for 25 years. My eating habits are moderate and I don't drink, yet I'm a nervous wreck. Tell me why I have these problems and he has none. I thought booze kills. If I could only drink the stuff, my health would probably improve.

REPLY
This serves to emphasize an oft-repeated axiom: "People are different." Do not imitate him but be less critical and you may feel better.

HOT WATER FOR CRAMPS

A reader writes: Will soaking the feet in hot water relieve cramping along the entire lower extremities—toes, feet, leg, and thigh? These attacks come on at night.

REPLY
Yes, but the cramp may be gone by the time you get into the shower or tub. If the cause of these spasms cannot be found and eliminated, a drug such as quinine or kneading the leg will relax the spasm.

BUDDY deFRANCO

Miller Band Soloist Returning to Warren

When the original Glenn Miller Orchestra, under the direction of and featuring Buddy DeFranco, hits Warren, a familiar face will be in the trumpet section. In 1954, when the North Warren Civic Club presented the Tex Beneke Orchestra, the lead trumpet soloist was Eddy Zandy. When Beneke returned to St. Louis, Zandy stayed right on the road with the reorganized Glenn Miller Orchestra, then fronted by drummer Ray McKinley. As Eddy Zandy states, "The leaders may change but I stay right on."

Zandy has completely captured

ed the Miller style and has evolved into one of the most pleasing swing-era trumpet soloists. His tone and technique is easily recognized by all big band fans.

Tickets for the concert to be held at the Warren Area High School Auditorium on Monday evening, June 17th at 8 p.m. are now on advance sale. The evening's entertainment will present the full, big band sound of the Glenn Miller Orchestra and will benefit the Cornplanter Drum and Bugle Corps. The usual ticket agencies in Warren, such as Waxman's, the V.L.P. Discount Store and many others have the tickets priced at $3.00.

Junior Raleigh, in announcing the Corps' decision to sponsor a major musical event, stated that the Miller band was coming through the area, which made the stop in Warren possible. Many from Warren remember the sold-out condition of the huge Chautauqua Assembly Grounds when the orchestra appeared there some years ago.

Since that engagement, Buddy DeFranco has assumed the leadership of the band. Building on one of the finest popular music groups ever established, DeFranco has added another refreshing new sound. A completely revitalized orchestra has pleased thousands of new fans.

It is reported that already many from other surrounding towns have planned to join the legion of Warren big band fans who will recall the familiar theme of "Moonlight Serenade" on Monday evening, June 17th. The Cornplanters urge Warrenites to get their tickets early.

Millions of Americans Don't Get Enough to Eat

WASHINGTON (AP) — After three weeks of Congressional investigation into the extent of hunger in the United States, one fact emerges: millions of Americans don't get enough to eat each day.

No one can say exactly how many do not eat regularly. The figure most generally agreed upon is 10 million.

And, say the officials, some 4 million school children attend classes hungry each day.

The hearings by the House Education and Labor Committee will produce a voluminous report containing contradictory figures, contrasting opinions by federal and state officials and the poor on food programs.

And there will be many, many recommendations on how to solve the problem of seeing that the hungry actually are fed.

Chairman Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., had planned to hold only two weeks of hearings but has extended them to accommodate the flood of witnesses. The hearings have run late into the evening.

The long parade of witnesses ranged from the Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman to representatives of the poor.

The panel has heard from doctors who have treated and studied the poor, state and federal officials who feed the poor, school officials who try to educate the poor, social workers who work with the poor and priests and clergymen who pray for the poor.

There has been much confusion over the semantics of the problem: Confusion over what is meant by starvation, hunger, malnutrition and undernutrition.

State and federal officials who direct food and welfare programs say they have found few cases of death by starvation and have seen to it that those they find who are hungry are fed.

But representatives of the poor say great numbers of people living in urban slums, the rural South and Southwest and on Indian reservations are starving, in the sense that lack of sufficient and proper food make them actual or potential victims of killing or crippling disease.

Another question raised by the hearings: How much is it going to cost to see that Americans who have been going hungry are given enough food?

Most concede that in the long run, it will take billions of dollars. Many believe that Congress should attempt to cure some of the more extreme cases by appropriating millions immediately.

An early frontal assault on hunger most probably will come with proposals that Congress divert more money to the school-lunch program to feed the some 4 million youngsters not now getting a daily square meal.

Perkins has indicated he will introduce legislation urging the secretary of agriculture to use funds from a surplus-commodities program for this purpose. The secretary testified he is unauthorized to do so now and plans to turn back to the Treasury this year $227 million from the program.

Perkins is expected also to recommend that more money be allocated to day-care centers so that preschool children from poor families can be given an adequate diet.

The primary purpose of the hearings was to hear testimony on a proposal to establish a Presidential Commission on Nutrition. The measure most likely will pass Congress and the task of gathering answers raised by the hearings will begin.

Despite the recommendations made by the committee or the proposed commission, it will take billions of dollars to see that every American receives an adequate diet. Whether or when Congress will appropriate the funds remains to be seen.

Social Scientists Fear Shootings Will Increase

(c) N.Y. Times News Service NEW YORK — Many social scientists say they fear that the shootings of President John F. Kennedy, Malcolm X, Medgar Evers, the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—after a long period in which assassinations were rare—represent the accelerating curve of a new pattern. They say this even though little direct research has been done on assassination.

"Clinical experience does suggest some sort of contagion phenomenon," said Dr. Joseph Satten, a psychiatrist at the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kan.

"The more people see of these things, the more they tend to increase," he added.

Amitai Etzioni, a sociologist at New York's Columbia University, said that "there will be more assassinations and attempted assassinations of political leaders in the United States during the next several years."

His statement is based on studies by himself and others of violence and other acts of public hostility—prison riots, slum riots, bomb scares and mass murders.

These studies, Etzioni said, show that highly publicized and dramatic acts of deviant behavior tend to repeat themselves at an accelerating pace for a brief period, and then end abruptly.

However, few social scientists agree with Etzioni's flat prediction that assassination attempts will accelerate "like a fad, like hoola hoops."

Neil Smelser, author of "A Theory of Collective Behavior" and professor of sociology at Berkeley, observed that after Richard Speck's murder of eight student nurses in Chicago, and Charles J. Whitman's sniper-slaying of 14 persons in Texas, an 18-year-old Arizonan, Robert B. Smith, killed five women in a beauty parlor and said he got the idea from Speck and Whitman.

"A highly dramatized event," Smelser said, "channels and focuses the unstructured diffuse hostility and potential for violence that exists in our society. This is a kind of natural sequence, and studies on hysteria, sexual psychopathic acts and swastika-painting show it."

David Kaplowitz, a sociologist at Columbia's bureau of social research, studied "the contagion phenomenon" in the wake of swastikas painted on synagogues and tombstones of Jews during the winter of 1960. Within three weeks of the first swastika-painting in Germany, more than a thousand were reported in the U.S.

"It was a typical curve for collective deviant behavior," he said. "It rose rapidly, peaked early, then petered away to nothing. It's not at all implausible that this phenomenon would apply to assassinations."

If assassinations are being dramatized before the nation, sociologists say, so is the arrest—and in Lee Harvey Oswald's case, the murder—of suspected assassins.

"The hazard of thinking in terms of progression of assassinations," said Robert Coles, a psychiatrist at Harvard University, "is that by focussing on discreet events it ignores the things that bring the progression. After all, racial tension and international violence is progressing too."

Jordanian Grocer Shot In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A South Side grocer who was a native of Jordan was shot to death Saturday in his store and police speculated the killing may have been in revenge for the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The man charged with murdering Kennedy, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, is a native of Jordan. Abder Rayyan, 55, the father of nine children, was shot in the head as he bent over a vegetable bin, his daughter, Zuhdeh, 22, who witnessed the shooting, told police.

She said two Negro men entered the store, one of them pulled out a pistol and they walked silently to where Rayyan was working.

The gunman put the pistol behind Rayyan's left ear and fired twice she said. The second shot missed.

Without saying a word, both men then walked out of the store, the daughter related.

Rayyan's nephew, Yasuf Jaba, 35, was also in the store at the time. He told police the gunmen acted "as if they were going over to a table to pick up a pack of cigarettes."

Rayyan left Jordan 16 years ago and lived in South America until 1963, when he came to the United States.

Named Miss Ebony

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Deborah A. Oliver, 20-year-old telephone employee, is the new Miss Ebony of Pennsylvania. She was chosen in a contest held here Saturday night and will receive a scholarship either to the University of Pennsylvania or Lincoln University.

Clarion Fire Causes Damages Totalling $75,000

CLARION, Pa. (AP) — Firemen stood watch Sunday over the ashes of a fire which destroyed a warehouse and threatened Clarion's main business district.

Flames from the fire became so hot Saturday a hose caught fire. Utility lines melted, knocking out telephone and electric service to parts of the town for several hours.

Fire Chief Paul Wiltshire, who estimated damage at $75,000, said the fire broke out in a partition between the Bankers' Supply print shop and a warehouse used by the Variety Distributing Co., a local discount house.

The print shop and a nearby garage were damaged, but firemen brought the blaze under control in about two hours.
